

What I have done since the last report:

I have worked more on the UI to further improve the user's quality of life.

I have also made changes to how the rooms are created/set up to allow for more customization with the ai players.

Lastly, I have done more training and testing with my AI to find what behavior works best in the game.

What I still need to do:

I need to continue working on my UI to improve not just the gameplay scene, but also the menus.

I would also like to test a new configuration of rewards and penalties for my agent to help it improve more.

I am also continuing to look into a platform that would let me host my web app
